[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

WINCHESTER, VA., Feb. 5.—Fred S. Anierson, local merchant, who was held up several nights ago, came into court last evening and identified Charles Smith as the young man who assaulted him with a wooden mallet in an attempt to rob him of upwards of $1,960 in checks and cash he was carrying in a bag under his arm. He was doubtful about Douglis Hoover, also suspected by the notice. Both men are held for the grand Jury.

"I am sure he is the man, said Andersen, pointing at Smith, "and if the officers will turn him loose and leave him with me for a few minners there will be no necessity for the court to take further action."

WINCHESTER FIREMEN TO FIGHT A REORGANIZATION

Belfeved Proposal Is but a Forerun-ner of Paid Department in Vailey City. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
WINCHESTER, VA., Feb. 5.—Most of the units of the Winchester fire department are for self-determination, it was stated last night in resolutions adopted, opposing a proposal of Recorder J. F. Ward, that the fire department be reorganized as provided by a State law, which comparatively few knew was in existence.

The change, it is said, would be the forerunner of a paid department met, and abolish the old volunteer fire-flighting organization, which, incidentally, wield no little political power in elections.
